

Col Loughnan Endorsement

Col Loughnan plays a GAIA 8 Tenor

“The GAIA is a unique blend of warmth and brilliance all in one mouthpiece. It plays very evenly throughout the entire range of the horn, from top to bottom.

*The presentation of these mouthpieces is quite outstanding as well, but they don't just look great, they play great too!

Thanks again Theo!” - Col Loughnan

Col Loughnan Biography –

Col Loughnan is one of Australia's finest reed players, arrangers and jazz educators.

He currently teaches Saxophone and woodwinds at The Sydney Conservatorium of Music, where he has been a faculty member of the Jazz department since 1979. He studied in the USA with the legendary master Joe Allard and woodwind virtuoso Victor Morosco, and has performed with artists as varied as: Frank Sinatra, Freddie Hubbard, Sammy Davis Jnr, Natalie Cole, Toshiko Akioishi and Lew Tabakin, Debbie Reynolds, Joachim Kuhn, The Sydney and Queensland Symphony Orchestras, Georgie Fame, Johnny Mathis, Eberhard Weber, Kenny Rogers, The Malaysian Philharmonic Orchestra, Shirley Bassey and many others. He toured and recorded throughout the USA twice with Australian jazz-rock group “Ayers Rock” between 1974 and '76, and has also toured Australia, the United Kingdom, Canada, and South East Asia as a soloist or educator. He has worked extensively as an arranger for film and television, as well as being musical director for many TV productions, recordings and international song festivals. His latest album “Ellen St” was released on the Newmarket Label in 2007. More information about Col Loughnan can be found at: www.coloughnan.com
